SOCIETY

NOTHING quieter in a social way than the capital of the nation can hardly be found now that the President has gone on to his summer home and the last reason for being in town over the week end is removed. The play is transferred to other stages, where news and gossip abound and the city world finds itself comfortable for longer periods in each twenty-four hours than has been possible hereabouts since the last grilling season came on. Newport is bursting with its marriages-to-be or those over with, in which multi-millionaires, millionaires, chauffeurs, figure and where in most cases the party of the second part has a few millions of her own in prospect. The situation is unique where the views of the matrimonial state find as many constructions as are being given to the coming alliance of Col. Astor and the young and pretty Miss Force, and in the very rapid manner by which Miss Force the other day changed her name to one which is long enough to make a fine showing on a visiting card, though it would have probably been quite vague reading a week ago. It does not require any great stretch of feminine wisdom to remark that chauffeurs are not any more expensive as sons-in-law in wealthy homes than the average titled foreigner, and may in a practical way be made quite handy. These eloping young folks gave Newport a shock in many ways and certainly have spoiled the season there for those more closely interested in the bride.

International weddings have become so frequent that the topic no longer excites undue comment and in the case of the Camoy-Sherman marriage, the happy bridegroom-to-be is already well known and has made his friends in the circle he will enter as the husband of an American heiress. Besides it seems just like what are joyfully announced as being "real love affairs."

Judge and Mrs. Charles L. Weller of San Francisco, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna Weller, and Lieut. Earl Shipp, U. S. N., last week, and the congratulations of many friends were wired to the bridegroom-elect, who is at Bremerton navy yard with the U. S. S. Lawrence. The pretty bride-elect has been a favorite at the Greenway assemblies for the last two seasons since her debut, and belongs to one of the oldest families in the city. She is a granddaughter of the late John S. Weller, who was distinguished in the sixties as a United States senator and governor of the state, and also as a minister to Mexico. She is a tall, handsome girl of the demi-bonne type, and has a wealth of brown hair. Her mother was one of the five McMullin sisters, belles of many years gone and daughters of Mrs. John McMullin.

Lieut. Shipp comes from a well known family in the east and is a favorite not only in the service set, but also socially. He has been ordered to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. The wedding will take place next month.

Miss Jennie Crocker has given her California home for a vaudeville and garden fete at which the management expect to make $10,000 for an orphanage. Novelties will be plentiful. Rehearsals are at town. During the early sums are promised, including the sketch of Willard Barton, "Shooting." One of the original features of the affair will be a "beauty show" in charge of Mrs. Walter Martin, which will be held in a tent, the exhibit to consist entirely of men, about forty in all. Here they will be displayed in all styles and costumes and votes cast for the most beautiful.

Admiral Lord Charles Bessford and Lady Bessford, who are now on the ocean coming to New York, will join their daughter, Miss Kathleen Bessford, who came over several weeks ago, and has been visiting both in Lenox and at Southampton. She leaves New York shortly for St. Paul, where she is to officiate as one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Josephine Kaiman to Richard Henry Blaque Bey, first secretary of the Turkish embassy at Washington. The latter was born in this country, where his father was Turkish envoy at the time, and had President Grant as his godfather. He is a Christian and of French origin, his grandfather having been a French royalist who entered the service of the sublime Porte. Blaque Bey is a familiar figure in New York.

Capt. and Mrs. John C. Linne have announced the engagement of their daughter, Adelaide Christine Linne, to Charles A. Court Beadon of Devonshire, England. Miss Linne is a sister of Mrs. Edward G. Parker, wife of Capt. Parker of the navy, and of Mrs. L. P. Stone, wife of Lieut. Stone of the United States Navy. Mr. Beadon is a grandson of the late Sir Cecil Beadon, and a nephew of Lady Plowden and a cousin of Lord Aberdeen.

The marriage of Miss Marie Louise Elkins, already very wealthy, and later to inherit another large fortune, and Christian de Guigne is to take place in November, but the date for that ceremony has not been settled, and the plans are still without definite announcement. It is probable that the wedding will take place at the home of the bride's grandfather, Senator Felton, near Menlo Park, Cal. She was introduced to society by her mother at an elaborate affair given at the home of the bride's grandfather, Senator Felton, near Menlo Park, Cal. Miss Elizabeth Hoover is in Annapolis, Va., where she is the guest of Miss Lella Scott. Miss Hoover also spent a short time in Richmond with friends. During the early sums are promised, including the sketch of Willard Barton, "Shooting." One of the original features of the affair will be a "beauty show" in charge of Mrs. Walter Martin, which will be held in a tent, the exhibit to consist entirely of men, about forty in all.
